Tells the Lexow Committee About His Long Island City Contracts.

EX-WARD MAN COONEY ROASTED.

The Blue-Coated Adenis Denies that He Was a Friend of Mrs. Mathilda Hermann.

The announcement that Police Commis soner John C. Sheehan would be a witness before the Lexow Committee this morn-ing was sufficient to fill Part III. of the Superior Court fully an hour before the regular time of opening the ball. There was an air of expectancy about the gathis taken in the investigation at this time and every one seemed to be prepared for some sensational developments.

It was learned at the office of Mr. Goff early in the morning that there was very little probability that the witness, Mrs. Mathilda Hermann, who is detained in Jersey City, would be or uld be brought to this city to-day, unless she should voluntarily consent to come over and waive extradition proeedings, which was very unlikely. There was considerable mystery about the charge of perjury which has been she is held there, but it was said this morning that it arose in a case in which she was implicated nearly two when a charge of robbery years ago, when a charge of robbery disorderly house, in which she was interested in behalf of the complainants, and made an affidavit that was afterwards shown to be false.

Promised Her Immunity.

At any rate, nothing was ever done in the matter, and it was said that she had been promised immunity from prosebeen promised immunity from prose-cution on this charge, if she would come to New York and testify before the Lexow Committee. The knowledge that such & charge was hanging over her enabled the Lexow agents to make a technical complaint against her yesterday in Justice Potts's court in Jersey City, on which she was held in $5,000 ball

Chairman Lexow and Senators Bradbay, O'Connor, Cantor and Robertson were in their places at 11 o'clock, but Mr. Goff had not yet put in an appearance. Neither was Commissioner Sheathan in evidence, but 'Jimmy' Irving, han in evidence, but 'Jimmy' Irving, the ex-bank burgiar, sat over in the corner reserved for witnesses and scanned the crowd caimly with his single eye. He has a story to tell when Mr. Goff is ready to put him on the witness stand.

When Mr. Goff came in at 11.29 the crowd on the back benches broke out with loud applause, but Chairman Lexow rapped sharply for order, and Lexow rapped sharply for ord EMATOR O'CONNOR READS THE MORNING Policemen Also Present More Colonization Cases.

The Grand Jury is again looking up the investigation of the corruption in the Police Department, and indictments may looked for to-day. It was not known this morning opon shom the axe would fall, but it was being sharpened all the morning in the Grand Jury room, and it was said that many heads would drop into the indictment basket in consequence.

Police Captain Schmittberger was said to be one of those against whom an indictment would be found to-day, although the Grand Jury might not hand the bill in before to-morrow morning.

The Grand Jury was also working upon fradulent registration cases to-day, and many police officers were before the inquisitors to testify in those cases. The principal work of the jury, however, was the investigation of the charges made aginst police captains and ex-ward inen.

Supt. Byrnes was before the Grand Jury early. He spent the best part of half an hour in the secret chamber, and it is surmised that he was there as much to help the Grand Jury on the police corruption cases as upon false registration matters.

He replied, when questioned by an "Evening World" reporter: "I have nothing to say." He left the building at 11.30 o'clock and went uptown.

A number of Lexow witnesses were in the witness-room of the Grand Jury this morning but the doors were extraordinarily well guarded, and the witnesses were kept out of sight as much as possible.

Shortly before noon Mrs. Augusta Thurow went before the Grand Jury this morning but the doors were extraordinarily well guarded, and the witnesses were kept out of sight as much as possible.

contest over the will of the late x-Alderman Nichelas Seagriet, who died on April 14 last, leaving an estate appraised at about $250,000, was resumed before Surrogate Fitzgerald to-day. In a will drawn a few hours before his death, Scagrist bequeathed the bulk of his estate to his niece, Mrs. Theresa Sirist. George W. Fisher, of 755 Tenth avenue.

George W. Fisher, of as lenth avenue, once one of Scagrist's tenants, testified to-day that on one occasion Seagrist said to him.

"I do not believe in making wills. If you leave one of your relatives a little more than another they take it to court and the lawyers get most of the property."

Miss Emily A. Rickert, a niece of the testator, testified that three days before he died she was refused permis-sion to see him, on the ground that he was too ill.

MR. HILL IN L. I. CITY.

The Senator Talks in the Queens County Court-House.

From the Judges' Bench He Arraigns the Republican Party.

Devotes Himself Particularly to Apportionment.

(Special to The Evening World.)
LONG IBLAND CITY, L. I., Oct. 25. Schator David B. Hill was tendered a welcome here this afternoon by the Denocracy of Long Island City, which, in surpassed any similar demonstration ever held in Queens County.

The Queens County Court-House where the meeting was held, was crowded to suffocation, and it required the combined efforts of Capt. Anthony J. Woods and a squad of police to keep the crowd from trampling over each aisles and in the court-room, from the desk of which the orator of the day spoke. only a small fraction of those present could obtain admission. Senator Hill was escorted over the Thir-in the latter's private carriage. A process don, headed by two brass bands, met the Senator at the ferry and led the way to tt 2.30 o'clock. When the Benator entered the court room a mighty cheer went up tha seemed almost likely to raise the roof off the building. Hats and umbrellas off the building. Hats and umbrellas wer waved, men and women shouted at the top of their voices, and it was several minutes before Mayor Sanford, the presiding officer, could make himself heard.

Senator Hill was accompanied by Congressman James W. Covert, ex-Senator Edward F. Fagan, Congressman Joseph H. O'Neill, of Massachusetts, ex-District-Attorney John Fleming, Surrogate A. N. Weiles and all the officeholders of the Sanford Administration.

Mayor Sanford introduced Senator Hill, who, on rising to speak, received another ovation. He began by making a facetious reference to the dingy court-room, and said he hoped some patriotic citizen would build a hall large enough to accommodate the Democrats of Queens County.

"I'll assume the roll of Judge and convict the Republican party of New York," he said.
"I want you to hear my case and viet the Republican party of New York, he said.

"I want you to hear my case and then judge for yourselves. My strength its such that I must not strain my voice too much.

"It seems strange to me to stand in this place, where the judges of Queens County are accustomed to hold court, but I will to-day assume the role of an impartial judge and arraign and convict the Republican party before you, as an impartial jury."

The speaker then defined the issues in the campaign, the greatest of which he said, was the apportionment scheme by which the Republicans sought to disfranchise Democrats by not slving them dus representation in the Legislature.

Benator Hill arraigned the whole of the constitutional amendments, and appealed to his hearers to defeat them one and all.
